

‘A work in progress’

This Coastal Trust’s Technical Handbook is a ‘living manual’ that will be added to and updated as new information and resources permit. Consequently, there are sections within the Handbook that are only partially complete at present. New Technical Articles will be added when they are published, as and when current and future projects are completed.

New sections will cover a wide range of subjects relevant to restoration of sand dunes, including how to set up Coast Care groups, native fauna of beaches and dunes, and weed and pest animal control. Information on latest updates published for the Handbook will be posted on the Coastal Trust website as soon as they are available.
